Spotlight on CARE Performance Sites

University of Michigan (UM)

The University of Michigan – Ann Arbor has participated in the NCAA-DoD CARE Consortium since the study's initiation in 2014. Over 1600 NCAA varsity athletes in 25 sports have enrolled in the study at Michigan led by site PI J.T. Eckner and study coordinator Lea Franco along with a team of athletic trainers, sports medicine physicians, and student researchers. We rely heavily on the hard work and expertise of our athletic trainers and team physicians to help carry out the CARE protocol. Clinical baseline assessments are performed beginning in the summer months and continue until they are completed for all new student-athletes by the start of the Fall semester.

Being part of the CARE consortium has helped build upon existing partnerships between academic medicine, athletics, and student athlete health & welfare, continually working to improve student athlete health management at the University of Michigan.

GO BLUE!
